"Voice Of A Nightingale"

Hear the story of how Georgia Mae found stardom through meeting a Nightingale in New York.

Written By Catherine Bond

New York City. Manhattan. Busy Streets. Loud Streets. Georgia Mae was living in a small apartment with her three sisters and her single dad. "I was over there doing a play with Candice Monroe, but in our apartment we didn't have a kitchen, so my dad used to clean the plates in the bathroom and put the clean ones on the toilet seat. It was pretty gross". Mae came from humble beginnings, although you could argue she was born into the world of showbiz, she would never have been condered a 'star' till perhaps recently. "Anyway one night, Munro, who is a massive star was stranded and had been kicked out of her flat. So she came too stay with us. Munro was a musical powerhouse at this time and she asked me if I would follow her into her next tour. Which I suppose is how my musical career began" But how did she originally find her love for showbiz? "The family and I had taken a roadtrip through the countryside..."
