

White Lies	This font looks quite curvy which could connote a feminine feel. Although this would suit a romantic film better
White Lies	This font is very bold and simple to read. This could connote the boldness in the characters. This might suit a thriller, but I think it would suit a comedy better.
white lies	This one looks like someone's handwriting. It looks soft which looks like it would be a girl's handwriting. Although I don't think it would suit thriller as it doesn't show any mystery.
White Lies	This is another hand writing one but this one looks much more sharp which may look more like a man's writing. This would suit a blog or chick flick better.
White lies	This font is very simple and is easy to read. But may not show any particular genre of film.
White Lies	This font looks bold and simple. But doesn't show suspense. I think this would suit the titles of a magazine.
WHITE LIES	This looks bold and mysterious, this would suit our thriller as people would question the footprint.