

OH! THE IRONY

ELLIOTT HARRIS SPEAKS OUT ABOUT HIS DEBUT #1 SONG "FAKE FRIENDS". ELLIOTT ALSO TALKS ABOUT ANY POTENTIAL COLLABORATIONS FOR THE FUTURE

In this month's issue of Rap Central we interview past and new as we interview Elliott Harris, the number 1 trending artist in the uk. We also interview huge artists from the past including Snoop Dogg and Ice Cube. We talk about potential collabs, number 1's and one artist nearing the 1 billion mark!

Elliott Harris who was recently awarded an excellence in music in the Brits award show for his debut album 'more money more problems', was spotted entering a studio with the one and only Snoop Dogg. Elliott claims 'no album is in the making but being in the studio with one of my idols was a surreal experience'. All hope for a potential Snoop and Harris collab seemed dead and buried but paparazzi yet again caught the pair in the studio again.

After the second meeting of the pair was out there for fans to see, Twitter user Rap-Fan1999 tweeted 'Snoop and Elliott have to be collabing! I can't wait for the album.' But neither of the two artists have commented on the second meeting so it is still up in the air. For us at Rap Central, we are still sceptical as rappers recording tapes for fun with each other is not uncommon and it has been seen before. But one thing we have in common with fans is that we would love for a collaboration to be made between these artists.

Potential collab aside, Elliott Harris has admitted to preparing lyrics for his next album who he has not yet revealed the name of. We are sure that this album will be a huge hit and it could possibly recreate Elliot's first album which was number 1 for an incredible 3 months.

In conclusion the potential collaboration seems unlikely but as we know in the music industry, never say never.
