

KNIGHT$' GAMBLE WITH HER NEW SINGLE

Knight$ is planning on releasing a new single to her diehard fans but she is contemplating on whether it is a bad idea. Many of her fans are begging her to release the new song but she might need a lot of persuasion.

Although no name has been released yet a teaser for the track was released on her Instagram to see what the public think of it.

Knight$ is an upcoming artist and has released multiple albums and singles to the public which has accumulated millions of fans around the world. We here at The Mandem with the star in between her busy appearances and recording sessions and she laid out her true feelings about the single, she said "It is completely different to anything that I have ever released, I normally release Pop type music but this new track I don't know how the public will react."

I asked her a few questions in a café in the local area and she gave us some good information. I also asked her what she is so worried about with this new single she continued by saying: "my fans are so use to seeing me live on stage with stars like Dua Lipa and Ed Sheeran but this time I am collaborating with people from a completely different genre so I don't know how people are going to respond to it, I hope that they are going to love it because I really enjoyed making it", and when pushed about the prospect of it failing, she was candid about her possible reaction. "I will be slightly upset but I will go back to my original genre of music where everyone knows me and how my music sounds, but if it goes well then you can expect to see me collaborating with many other rappers in the future".

So, will Knight$ hit the jackpot with her debut rap single featuring big artists from the genre or will she play her cards incorrectly and make it flop? We will keep you updated on the release date and how the public reacts to this new single so don't forget to order the next edition of The Mandem
